MALLORY, STEAMSHIP FLEET HEAD, IS DEAD

Organization Founded by Veteran's Father Built First Iron Vessel

It was announced at the Maritime Exchange here today that Henry B. Mallory, formerly president of the Mallory Steamship Company and of the Aswyl group of steamship companies, made up of the Mallory Steamship Company, the New York and Cuba Mail Steamship Company, the Ward Line and the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company, died suddenly yesterday at Winter Park, Fla., where he went last December to spend the winter.

Mr. Mallory, who was one of the best known shipowners in the country, was born at Mystic, Conn., two years ago. He began his career with the Mallory Steamship Company in the office of his father, the late Charles H.
Mallory. Mr. Mallory's grandfather, Charles Mallory, about seventy-five years old, had died at Mystic the first time he came to this country, and had died in March of this year, a member of the Machine Gun Company of the 18th Infantry. His parents live at the home of his son in Winter Park.

Private CHARLES B. CARR, 5331 Larchwood avenue, a member of the 19th Infantry, reported wounded today, but had no record of having been hit in the arm. He was a member of the Army's Machine Gun Company, which had been organized after his arrival in France.
He was employed as a civil engineer.

Private NICHOLAS MUNO was gassed in Ghent, Belgium, and recovered only again to get a dose of the deadly gas. He is twenty-four years old, and has been in the army since September, 1917. He is a native of Cambria, Maine, and has and has not married. He is a member of the Machine Gun Company of the 18th Infantry. His parents live at the home of his son in Winter Park.
